Subject: Update re: AllenCo

All,

We communicated with AllenCo's attorney who indicated that AllenCo has no planned operations next week or in the near future. They informed DOGGR that they are working on coordinating the logistics for the bleed down/testing.

With respect to the potential for portable flares being utilized by AllenCo if the gas composition during the bleed down cannot be processed by the microturbines, AllenCo does not have to have a permit from AQMD. Instead, they need to use vendors who have AQMD permitted flares.

Lastly, we do not yet have an answer on whether AllenCo still intends to notify the community in advance of the bleed down and well testing. When we hear back from AllenCo, we'll let you all know.

Hope everyone has a good weekend,

Jaclyn

All,

LA City would like to have today's enforcement call to discuss any updates. We'd especially like to hear from DOGGR and EPA.

Much appreciated,
